7-Nights / 8-Days Langkawi Itinerary

Langkawi is the main island of an archipelago of 99 islands and only one of two which are inhabited, it has a mountain range in the north running down to the plains in the centre with the rice paddies and then the main city of Kuah in the south. There are numerous islands and bays offering safe anchorages and the islands can be sailed all year round and in any weather conditions. The northern beaches and bays are among the finest in the world. Langkawi is a gorgeous cruising area, featuring high cliffs and hundreds of potential excursions. Swim in a freshwater lake, or visit the wildlife sanctuary to see sea eagles and monkeys.

The islands were given a World Geopark status by Unesco in 2007. The main conservation areas are Machincang Cambrian Geoforest Park, Dayang Bunting Marble Geoforest Park and last but not least Kilim Karst Geoforest park. These areas are the most popular areas for tourists and due to their protected nature are something you don't want to miss.

Day 3: Tanjung Rhu Beach

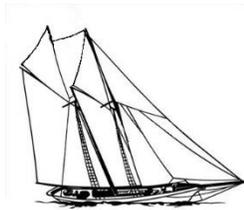

A leisurely start and a late breakfast before the short sail along Langkawi's northern shores to the Tanjung Rhu Beach; a famous picture perfect beach, which is more sparse and quieter than other beaches. There are several kilometers of white sand beaches and clear waters, the shores are a dense forest. At the low tide, Tanjung Rhu and the nearby islands will be connected as one, the beach will become a soft white sand pile. There is also a legendary cave near Tanjung Rhu, the mysterious text portrayed on the stone wall has yet to be deciphered.

Day 4: Kilim River (Hole in the Wall)

Another easy morning at Tanjung Rhu beach and then the short sail around to the eastern side of the island and head for Kilim River, here you will anchor in the heart of a mangrove forest; Kilim Karst Geoforest Park one of Langkawi's GeoParks. You can try feeding the tame stingrays at the fish farm and famous 'Hole In The Wall' restaurant nearby is the 'Cave of bats' for those who wish to visit.
