11 DAY & 10 NIGHT ANDAMAN ISLAND ITINERARY

India's most remote state, the Andaman Islands are situated more than 1000 miles off the east coast in the middle of the Bay of Bengal, connected to the mainland by daily flights from Kolkata, Chennai and Visakhapatnam. Though remote from India they sit on the edge of the Andaman Sea and less than 400 mile from Thailand and an two day relocation trip for Dallinghoo to get there. Guests are more than welcome to join us in Phuket and sail to the Andmans – on a classic schooner the journey is part of the adventure! Many guest opt to maximise their time on the islands and choose to fly to Port Blair the capital of the islands (& only real town!) and join Dallinghoo in the anchorage there – having arrived a few days earlier we are freshly provisioned and ready to explore.

All the islands are thickly covered by deep green tropical forest, the archipelago supports a profusion of wildlife, including some extremely rare species of bird, but the principal attraction for tourists lies in the beaches and the pristine reefs that ring most of the islands. Filled with colourful fish and kaleidoscopic corals, the crystal-clear waters of the Andaman Sea feature some of the world's richest and least spoilt marine reserves – perfect for snorkelling and scuba diving. Commercial fishing in the archipelago was banned 50 years ago so fish stocks higher than almost anywhere in the world and putting a line over Dallinghoo stern you are almost certainly going to hook dinner!

Although parts of the archipelago still see few visitors, the Andamans are now firmly on the tourist circuit.
