7-Nights / 8-Days KK to Labuan Itinerary

This 7 night and 8 day itinerary takes you along the north Borneo Coast of Sabah from the state capital of Kota Kinabalu to the Federal territory of Labuan and then finally onto the country of Brunei.

This cruise will start from the city close by the airport and in the shadow of Mount Kinabalu, guest can fly in and join Dallinghoo here or can have already been in into the hinterland with its lush rainforests and startling array of flora and fauna, visited the orangutan sanctuaries, the indigenous tribes and their long houses and watched the sun rise for the peak of Mount Kinabalu.

The cruise takes in the city lights and then venture out into the South China Sea stopping at some lesser know islands and finally terminating in the country of Brunei. From here guest can disembark and head out from Brunei International Airport.

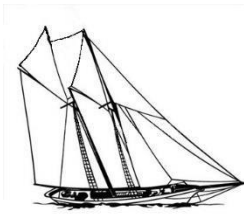

Day 1: Arrival Kota Kinabalu

Guest's will be met at KK's International Airport and brought to Sutera Harbour Marina only 10 minutes away where Dallinhoo will be waiting for you to embark. After the welcome aboard Schooner Dallinhoo, the Captain will conduct the safety briefing and once everyone is comfortable on board, Dallinhoo will sail the short distance to Pulau Gaya where you can have your first swim in the South China Sea before enjoy a sunset cocktail and a first dinner on board.

Day 2: Maukan, Sapi and Mamutik Islands

After breakfast on board, you will get the chance for a run ashore and walk through Pulau Gaya's 'Water Village and spend a morning exploring the islands. Dallinhoo will sail late morning for the short distance to the Mamutik Islands. This small group of islands including Pulau Maukan and Sapi has fewer inhabitant than Pulau Gaya and fewer tourist, they have some lovely anchorages with crystal clear water for snorkelling or diving.

Day 3: Pulau Tiga (Survivor Island)

A dawn start for the crew departing Mamutik Islands for the cruise to Palua Tiga. This remote island was until recently uninhabited and unknown to the outside world. However it was chosen for the setting for the first series of the TV show ‘Survivor’, since then the island has become well known and to most people as ‘Survivor Island’. Though there is now a jetty and a small resort on the island it still maintains its charms and guests can explore its beaches and jungle and the famous mud baths!

Day 4: Pulau Labuan

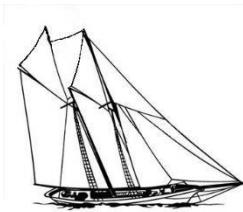

Guest can have a final swim or stroll on the beach of Palau Tiga after breakfast before Dallinghoo weighs anchor and sails for the island of Labuan, arriving off the town of Victoria in the afternoon. Guests will get the chance here to have an evening in town should they wish, Labuan is a duty-free island under the administration of the Government of Malaysia as a federal territory rather than state control of the Sabah government.

Day 5: Pulau Labuan

This day will be spent at the town's anchorage so that guests will be able to have an excursion ashore, Labuan was the first location settled on by the British and it's most traumatic period during the occupation by the Japanese in WWII and then the subsequent liberation by the allies at the end of the war. There is the allied war cemetery here where there is the annual Remembrance Service each November, Surrender Point and the Japanese cemetery are also worth a visit along with the famous Chimney and Bird Park. The captain will during the day also be clearing Dallinghoo and all guests out of Malaysia here.

Day 6: Pulau Kuraman

Another easy start with breakfast at anchor and a final shopping trip ashore if wished and then the short cruise from Labuan over to Pulau Kuraman, another small group of islands where Dallinghoo can anchor and guests can enjoy the day in the bay. The islands are well known and respected by divers as they have a number of well intact wrecks which can all be dived. These are all in clear water, covered in coral and fishes, the wrecks range from WWII to more modern ones.

Day 7: Brunei

Dallinghoo will lift her anchor after breakfast for the cruise over to Brunei. Divers will have had the chance for a morning dive on one of the wrecks. Dallinghoo will arrive into Brunei in early afternoon and anchor in the river off the Serrasa Yacht Club and close by the immigration department. The yacht and guests clearance will be completed. In the evening the guests can venture ashore and a trip to the Jerudong Park, a world class fun fair with state of the art rides, built by the Sultan as a gift to the people however there are never any crowds and no queues for the rides!

Day 8: Brunei

Your final day can be relaxing on board or taking an excursion into Bandar seri Begawan for a trip around the famous ‘Kampong Ayer’ (Water Village), the famous mosque and a brief look around the capital city of this oil rich nation before heading to Brunei’s international airport and your onward journey.
